DEDICATION

To one who exemplifies the spirit of journalistic progress, as portrayed in this volume, by his accomplishments as an editor at one time; by his contribution in a former advisory capacity; by his ability as head of the English Department under which come all publications; by his valuable assistance as photographer of this issue; and by his general friendliness and helpfulness to all students, to Mr. Richard Gahr is dedicated this 1937 edition of El Aviador.

FOREWORD

As the race advances, so do its many factors. The development of the newspaper is today one of the most interesting and valuable steps towards a higher civilization. Without it, word of worldly ascent as well as descent would be slow to travel. It has been said that it is one of the greatest sources of education and information in existence, and it is with this in mind that we have carried out the theme, "The History of the Newspaper."

TRUSTEES

A great deal of the success of Excelsior is due to the earnest efforts of the members of the school Board of Trustees. The policies of administration, the building of new structures upon the campus, all the financial expenditures, as well as the serious disciplinary measures, are the problems which come before them every year.

Chosen because of their outstanding abilities in managing the activities of their respective communities, the members of the Board are elected for a period of three years, at the end of which they are subject to reelection. From among themselves they elect a president and a clerk each year. They are paid no salaries, and their only remuneration is the sincerest appreciation and thanks of the students, and the deepest respect of the members of their community.

RALPH F. BURNIGHT

To Mr. Burnight we owe our appreciation for the countless number of tangible as well as intangible things that he does to give the members of our student body the best advantages and opportunities possible. It is he who is responsible for the way in which our grounds and buildings are kept up so adequately.

This year he has devoted a great deal of his time to plans for our new auditorium. He has overcome all the obstacles blocking the progress of the auditorium and it is now well on its way to completion.

ADMINISTRATORS

Upon the shoulders of Miss Rankin rests the success of the student body government. With her friendly suggestions she assists the student body officers in carrying on their work. She aided in securing the noon dances for the students, works with the Girls' League and the Council, and does a great deal to further the progress of this organization.
that she takes an interest in each student as an individual.

In considering all that Miss Rankin does for the students we must not overlook those things which she does for members of the faculty. She is always willing to aid them with the problems that they encounter.

Mr. Richardson has handled his new position as Dean of Boys with striking success. The tact with which he has dealt with difficult situations that have arisen deserves our sincere appreciation. He is interested in school events such as games and dances, and has been a faithful frequenter of such affairs. The success with which he has handled the National Youth Administration group of students has been outstanding.

In her position as Counselor, Miss Watkins takes an active interest in school affairs and enjoys attending the social affairs because they afford her a better opportunity to become acquainted with the students. She works continuously to further friends among the students and was the originator of the friendship teas. This year Miss Watkins has devised a new plan of registration for the freshmen in order to facilitate their adjustment to high school.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

In any high school in which a democratic form of self-government exists, there is a heavy responsibility which falls upon the student body officers. This year the officers have been exceedingly capable and have carried out their responsibilities in an admirable way.

The office of president was filled during the first semester by Robert Kelly, popular Senior A student.

The supporting officers of the first semester were: Dorothy Reinke, vice president; Hazel Huitt, secretary; Vera Harrington, treasurer; Victor Wood, chief justice: Edward Reaves, sergeant-at-arms; Johnny Miller, yell leader; and Marilyn Crider, song leader.

This year Excelsior enjoyed an unusually enthusiastic rooting section under the leadership of Johnny Miller and his assistants. The band is also to be commended for its successful season and its unusually large membership.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Rising to an unusual prominence during his senior year, Darrell Weekley assumed the presidency.

With the exception of Vera Harrington, who, according to custom, retained her position as treasurer for the remainder of the year, an entire new group of officers were elected the second semester. They were: Eleanore Cruse, vice president; Jeanne Gordanier, secretary; Douglas Hibberd, chief justice; Ted Stein, sergeant-at-arms; Bob White, yell leader; and Esther McNamara, song leader.

The Student Affairs Committee, which is composed of seniors, was responsible for the establishment of the long-desired, noon dances. They were held the last 15 minutes of the lunch period on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and were greatly enjoyed and appreciated by all students.

A new type of rally was also established by the second semester officers.

Excelsior's judicial department was headed this year with Victor Wood serving as chief justice the first semester and Douglas Hibberd the second semester. The chief justices and judges were aided by a new adviser, Mr. Richardson.

Four outstanding judges are chosen to try the cases when the defendant is summoned from study hall, and both sides are presented. They vote by secret ballot to determine the number of demerits to be issued if the student is proven guilty.

Each pupil begins the semester with 100 merits. If a student's record falls below 95, a letter is sent to his parents by the secretary of the student body. If his record continues to fall and reaches 90 merits or below, a letter is sent to his parents by the dean of boys.

In order to graduate from Excelsior, a student must maintain an average of 90 merits throughout his four years of school.

The police force is one of the most important organizations of our school. Approximately thirty students are chosen each year from a large number of volunteers to be members of the group.

The force should be given credit for promoting a high standard of citizenship among the students and making the campus the safe, clean, and orderly place it is.

This year the police were advised for the first time by Mr. Cleavinger. The student head of the police is the sergeant-at-arms of the student body, the post being held the first semester by Edward Reaves and during the second semester by Ted Stein.

The party held by the police on January 22 was one of the brilliant social affairs of the year, its purpose being to initiate new members into the force.

JOHANN GUTENBERG [1399-1468]—Credit for the discovery of the art of printing is given to Johann Gutenberg of Mainz, who in 1456 produced the famous Bible which bears his name, the first book ever printed from movable type. This volume, of 1300 pages, was printed in an edition of about two hundred copies and still stands as an unsurpassed example of perfect printing.

WINTER 1937

The Winter class of '37, which oddly enough consisted of 37 members, cannot boast of their number, but in scholastic and athletic ability, they rank high. Although they were welcomed by the earthquake on entering in '33, it proved a successful year under the guidance of President Robert Kelly. In the following two years they were led by Dorothy Reinke and Buddie Madison, respectively.

Rust and white were the well-chosen colors for their junior sweaters, which they received the first of the year. The junior-senior prom was given later, and the year was successfully concluded with the junior play, "The Perfect Alibi," in which the class was well-represented.

With Victor Wood acting as president, the class spent an active year during which the senior play, "The Queen's Husband," was presented, with several members of this class included in the cast.

An impressive graduation in the Norwalk Grammar School auditorium brought the year to a close.

The class advisers were Miss Chapin and Mrs. Wanley.

SUMMER 1937

The summer class' history has been one of remarkable activity and service to the school. With Berry Harrison as presiding officer, they entered Excelsior and were welcomed with an enjoyable Freshman-Sophomore party.

During their sophomore year, they chose George Hasha as president and the class soon became well-known for their accomplishments.

Standlee Greening led them as juniors, and grey and blue were chosen for their sweaters. "The Perfect Alibi," selected as the junior play, gained much favor, as did their junior and senior prom given in the atmosphere of the South Seas.

In their senior year, George Brown became president, and members of this class headed the student body government and also participated in the production of "Skidding," the senior play.

The entire class feels that without the cooperation of Mrs. Montgomery and Mr. Cleavinger the successful record of this class could not have been maintained.

Dr. Campbell, choosing to look on the brighter side of the current social, economic and political scenes, stressed the challenges offered to do the work of the world better than it has been done in the past.
"The great political challenge offered now is for young people of clear heads and clear vision to serve in the cause of honest, decent and efficient government," stated Dr. Campbell. "They can lead us out of the present politi-

Challenges Graduates
Dr. Campbell further stressed the economic, moral and social to young people.

Excelsior's band, rection of Mr. Kirkpatrick, will take part in the Regional Band
Festival for school and independent bands which will take place in Pasadena and is sponsored by the Southern California Band Master's association.

There are four parts: the parade, in which the different bands march along the streets of Pasadena; the contest, with all the bands competing for a prize; the mass band, combining all of the bands and giving a concert in the Rose Bowl; and the barbecue, a sort of party for the participants.

"This is the first event of its kind in the West and since Excelsior is now in the big school class we have been invited to compete," said Mr. Kirkpatrick. "The students will get the thrill of their lives as well as learning a great deal from the close association of some four thousand and teachers."

In order again to present the students with an annual they will enjoy, many innovations have been added this year. Because of the increased size of the school, it was necessary to enlarge all sections to make accommodations for larger classes and more clubs. Also new are the informal views of the faculty and the informality of the layout and mountings. A number of extra pages were added to the snapshot section so that more unposed pictures of school life might be shown.

With sixteen extra pages added, "sixteen" became the advertising by-word. The number was written on all the blackboards, the sales drive lasted from March 1 to March 16, and tickets with the number printed on them were given to all those who bought annuals. Another interesting feature of the advertising campaign was the exhibit in the display window showing how an annual is made. Miss Chapin, an active member of the English department, was in charge of the publication. An extra burden was placed on Mr. Gahr because of the numerous pictures to be taken and his patience and cooperation were greatly appreciated by the staff.

In addition to those whose pictures appear on these pages are several who have contributed generously to its making. Particular credit is due to Jessie Slaughter for the fine etchings which appear opposite the division pages. Others whose work has been of value are: Phil Dunham, Fred Stussy, and Ursula Rueckheim, who were of great assistance with pictures; and Charles Asawa and George Sutton, who aided in the sales of this edition. Their valuable assistance was deeply appreciated by the entire staff.

Climaxing a very successful year of publication, the Excelsior Life was awarded second honors for improvement of the paper during the season. The event was the 15th Annual Newspaper Day on March 20, at the University of Southern California. The award was a beautiful plaque which now adorns the exhibit window in the Administration Building.

As a special event of the year, a splendid eight-page joke edition was published. On April 7th the sophomore Journalism class

"STREETS OF

Excelsior's Junior classes presented "The Streets of New York," an old fashioned melodrama in five acts, by Dion Bouciacault. Unlike any other presented at Excelsior, the play, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Chapin, won unprecedented praise.

The plot revolves about the rise and fall of the villainous banker, Gideon Bloodgood, and the misfortunes of the family of Captain Adam Fairweather, a worthy sea captain who entrusts his entire fortune into the supposed safe-keeping of the aforementioned scoundrel. His fall is precipitated by the shrewdness of Badger, his former clerk, and after twenty years the money is finally restored to its rightful owners.

As a sub-plot there is a love affair between Lucy Fairweather and Mark Livingstone, a young aristocrat who is backed financially by Bloodgood. Their romance is imperiled by the villain's daughter Alida, who wishes to marry Mark because of his social standing. Lending humor to the situation is the Puffy family, who support the Fairweathers in their time of need.

Ted Stein gave a very realistic performance as Bloodgood, the banker, while Badger, the banker's former accomplice who later sees the light, and becomes the hero, was portrayed by Ross Ledbetter.

Romantic leads were enacted by Sara Applebury as Lucy, and Bob Fowler as Mark Livingstone. Eleanor Farmer played the part of Alida, the heartless daughter of Bloodgood. The ill-fated sea captain was interpreted by Buford Johnston, while Frances Taylor gave a splendid characterization of his unfortunate widow. Fred McCloud as Paul Fairweather was very appealing. The role of Edwards, the butler, was enacted by Dick Bohlander. Herbert Sutton, Robert Besse, and Lumen Pelletier were humorous in their parts of Jonas Puffy, Dan Puffy, and Mrs. Puffy, respectively.

The production staff included Marcella Mitchell as Student Director, Jean Brookshire as Mistress of the Wardrobe, and Alfred Carney as Master of the Wardrobe. The lovely costumes of the 1857 period were made under the direction of Miss Marie Wilson. The stagcraft crew worked under Mr. R. J. Armstrong, and Mrs. Betty A. Isaacson had charge of the interior decoration.

Reading from top to bottom: (1) "Alida, my darling child, tonight you will leave this house forever." (2) "God bless us, and pity the poor of New York." (3) "Ah, Alida, how is the little Tootles?" (4) "Great heaven! In what condition do I find you?" (5) "What am I fit for, Father? I am fit for the same fate as yours—infamy!!"

"S K I D D I N G"

"Skidding," a hilarious three-act comedy by Aurania Rouverol, was chosen by the Senior class for its annual presentation. Miss Nellamena Roach, Excelsior's capable dramatic coach, directed the production. Katherine Bashor acted in the capacity of student director.

When a woman leaves her husband, because her two married daughters leave theirs, things begin to get serious. They become especially involved since the woman's husband is a judge facing re-nomination in a district court, and their youngest daughter is trying to choose between a political career and marriage.

Ted Stein again gave a splendid performance as Judge Hardy, a father who is torn between his home duties and his work. As the mother who straightens out her daughters' marital affairs, Maxine Nelson portrays Mrs. Hardy. The would-be politician, Marion Hardy, was portrayed by Eleanore Cruse, while her fiance, Wayne Trenton III, a young Easterner, was played by Bill Cann. The part of Aunt Millie, the old maid school teacher who proclaims that being an old maid isn't as much fun as having to worry about a husband and family, was acted by Fern Beauchamp. Andy Hardy, who is constantly working cross-word puzzles and who isn't too careful about his appearance until a pretty girl moves into town, was portrayed by Douglas White. Myra and Estelle, who move into the family home, were played by June Hauck and Lorraine Nowels, respectively. Grandfather Hardy, who lends both humor and pathos to the situation, was Ed Reaves. Phil Harrington played the part of Oscar Stubbins, political boss.

Other members of the student staff included Jean Brookshire and Dorothy Killingsworth as Mistresses of the Wardrobe, and it also included the stage crew.

HORACE GREELEY—(1811-1872) remains, years after his death, at the head of the list of American journalists. He is best known as the founder and publisher of the "New York Tribune." In 1872 he was nominated for presidency of the United States, but he was defeated. His high ideals, his knowledge of the chief essentials of journalistic style, and the battles he fought for humanity have made him for all time the epic figure of the American press.

LINOTYPE—In 1885, after many years of experimenting, Ottmar Mergenthaler patented the Linotype, one of the mechanical marvels of the world. The Linotype, so called because it sets up a "line of type," doing away with the necessity for setting up all type by hand, is operated with a keyboard somewhat similar to a typewriter. This machine makes possible the prodigiously rapid production of the newspapers and magazines of today.

League Post Won by Lowdean Head

Lowdean Head won the office of Girls' League secretary at a special election held all day yesterday in Mrs. Stull's office. She received a plurality over Louise Murray, Juanita Goza, and Maryetta Whitehead, her opponents. Lowdean replaces Hazel Huitt, who graduated last Friday night.

Entering Excelsior only this year, she was eagerly accepted among student circles. She is now one of the most popular girls in the senior A class.

Behind every successful athlete is good training, and it is this for which the coaches are responsible. Excelsior's staff of coaches have proved very capable this year, and have turned out more than a middling bunch of sportsmen in every field of competition they have entered.

Coach Ashton was in charge of the varsity football and baseball men, while Mr. Langdon put the Bee football and A basketball players through their paces. Coach Ernest Jensen trained the entire track team, and also the Cee football boys. As to Mr. Van Petten, he kept a watchful eye on both the Cee and Dee basketball players. Mr. Goodheart guided his tennis team and turned out more than a few fine players, while Coach Kendle sent the Bee football, the junior varsity baseball and basketball boys through for a good showing.

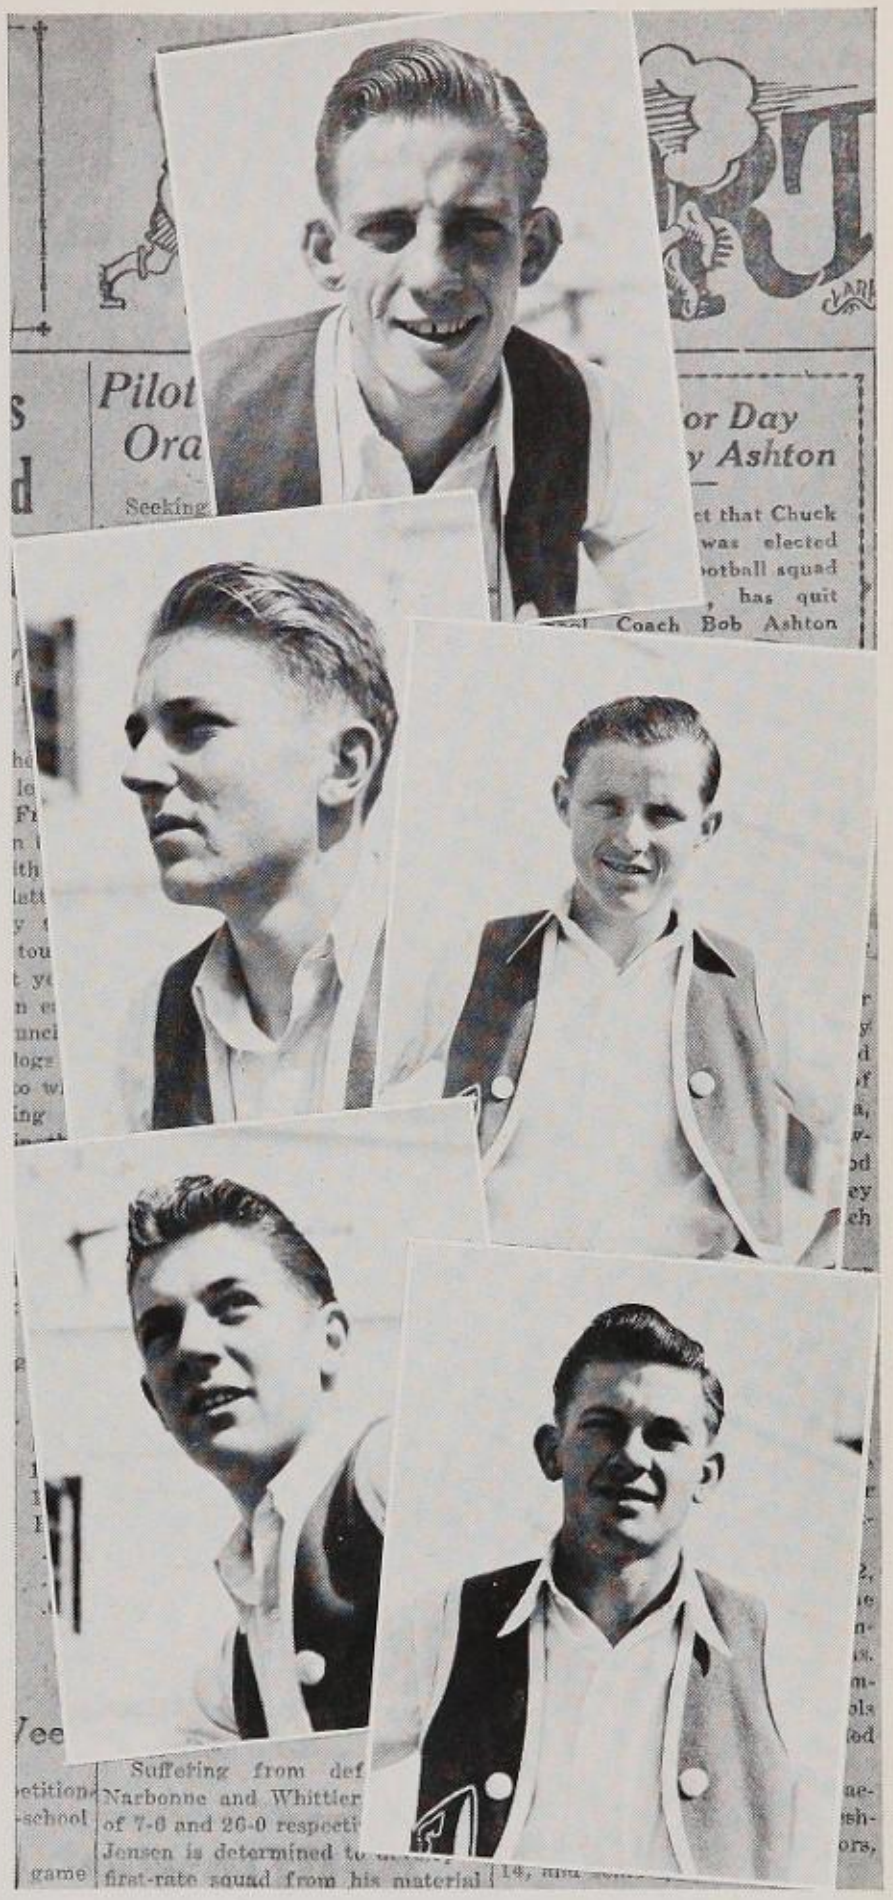
Reading down: Robert Ashton, Joseph Langdon, Ernest Jensen, Edmund Goodheart, Harry Van Petten.

YELL AND SONG LEADERS

School spirit increased greatly during the last year under the direction of the yell and song leaders. The band, with Mr. Kirkpatrick at its head, also responded splendidly. The cooperation of the student body is not to be equaled under a handicap such as that which we faced.

Rallies were usually held before every game, thus adding to the student enthusiasm. The rally committee, under Ed Reaves, started the new program rally which went over with flying colors.

The support given the team was outstanding, due to the fact that the yell and song leaders truly influenced the students in their efforts to maintain loyalty, good sportsmanship, sincerity and true school spirit.



Reading down: JOHNNY MILLER, BILL WHITE, ALLEN SHERMAN, BOB WHITE, LARRY CROSS.

VARSITY

With Vic Wood snapping signals and Frank Pope and George Zivelonghi tormenting them, the Panthers fell prey to the Pilots with a score of 18-7. The Jordan team ripped off long gains in the third quarter, principally due to Henderson's punts and passes, but managed only one touchdown and conversion. Catching a long pass from Yasukochi, Don Henderson pushed his way down to the Panthers' 5-yard line where our last six points were adopted when it was pushed over.

With a long completed pass setting up the only score, Burbank's Bulldogs left the field with the victorious six points of our second battle. The back field combination of Wood, Zivelonghi, Pope and Mapp ran through with their usual good playing, but without really snapping out of it. With Heflin leading, the line battled the snappy offense vigorously, but could not compete with the Bulldogs' blocking.

On meeting the Pasadenans for our third game, Yasukochi, snatching the ball on the kick-off, was downed by the Bull-pups on the 20-yard line. In turn, the ball was pushed back to the 45 after our punt. During their second series of downs a long pass, shot to Reese, looked like a first score, but it was incomplete. The scoreboard was again threatened on a recovered ball, but the situation was saved by a magnificent tackle by Pope. They did, however, score 6 points on a pass from Reese to Wright.

the Pasadenans were decidedly too smooth for us, with the result of another touchdown. Kelly then pulled himself together and made a good sprint from the 35- to the 55-yard line before he was brought down. Excelsior's spirits were again dampened by a Reese-Itow chalk-up. After the kick-off, Lynn Mapp grasped the pigskin and galloped down from the 10-yard line to the 43, prior to being pulled down by Itow.

During the last quarter there was a pass from Pope to the 12, but no real clicking resulted from this. To top it all, the referee inflicted a severe 15-yard penalty because a Pilot bounced a ball on a Pasadenan's head. Needless to say, the Pasadena team again proved their power by making a six pointer and a conversion, netting a final score of 27-0.

Playing on a slippery field, the El Monte Lions brought the ball from the 12- to the 34-yard line and then pushed straight down to the scoring stripe for a touchdown and conversion. This snapped the Pilots into fighting form, and for the remainder of the quarter, the match was evenly and finely fought in the center of the field. Pope's tackles were put over in perfect shape.

During the second quarter the Pilots were tossed for a loss on a fumble. Then the Lions were brought down on our 40 on a punt. Starting on a smoother function, Heflin and Mapp disrupted both their next two plays. Gradually, after a time out, the visitors were thrown back to their 25 on heavy tackles. After more middle-fielding, we gathered up the ball on the 28-yard line, and then, after a 12-yard pass that put us up to the 42 stripe, the ball was intercepted. On their first play, Pope and Mapp chased the Lions for only a slight gain on our part. An incomplete pass ended that quarter.

The third quarter began by a fine display of bulldogging on Excelsior's part. The El Monte players then dragged the pigskin up to our 2-yard line, but the Pilots spread their wings and drove them back to the 10. They were up again to the same old 2-yard stripe, when they gained the new down decision and roared over for six points. Seven more were marked up on a long run and conversion.

You may draw your own conclusions with the thought in mind that 26 points were made in the last quarter. The game ended with a score of 46-0 in favor of the Lions. However, the thought of the first half's being evenly battled should show that our boys are made of real stuff.

Friday, the thirteenth, proved a bad day for the Pilots when they bowed before the Monrovians for a 13-6 score. The entire first half consisted of slow, even playing that was broken into only by a few fine kicks and a dandy tackle by Ray Rogers that caught the Monrovians far down towards our end of the field.

The second quarter started with two sweet tackles that backed the visitors up considerably. Then a fumble, caused by an attempt to block a punt, put the ball in our possession, and after a series of three downs, we were over for six points.

Excelsior gained several firsts and on one of these Pope almost brought the skin up to the scoring stripe, but because of a penalty, it was brought back to the 25 yard line. Monrovia's "dark cloud," McNeill, intercepted a pass and away he went for their first chalk-up. Excelsior was rather rusty on the trick plays in spite of good gains.

Ending a very agreeable season with the familiar score of 13-6, the Pilots were vanquished at the hands of the Tigers. Excelsior, receiving, was very fortunate in thrusting the pigskin, by the strength of Pope's first downs, almost over the goal line. The gun ended the chance of making the six points, but Reed thrust it over at the beginning of the second quarter.

Montebello, too, pulled in real yardage and after several minutes of playing very near the scoring stripe, they grabbed the pigskin and went over. The Tigers also snatched the pill from the clutches of a Pilot and ran, it seemed, through a mess of Blues and Greens for an eighty yard touchdown and a conversion.

Bugbee, a Tiger man, was the illustrious lad who ruined the Pilots' chances of winning two games this season, in spite of the extraordinary playing by Rogers, Pope, and Caldwell.

B FOOTBALL

The 1936 Bee football squad opened the season by defeating Anaheim, 14-0, though outweighed from 10 to 15 pounds per man.

The Bees trounced Bell with a chalk-up of 12-0. The first score was made in the third quarter by Barnes, and we scored again when right half Sherman intercepted a forward pass and walked for the second and final score of the game.

In their first league encounter with Jordan, the Bees looked very promising, permitting the Panthers to get their hands on the ball just once during the first half. In the second half, the Panthers pulled a lateral on the business end of a forward pass for their only score. Later, Iwata scored for Excelsior, but the conversion failed; score, 6-6.

Although the Burbank game was lost, the Bees beat Whittier by a score of 14-8.

Excelsior met defeat at the hands of El Monte, 13-7, in an exciting and well fought game.

C FOOTBALL

Coach Jensen's Cees went down in defeat in their first game, which was held with Narbonne. Fullback Dressler scored 6 for Excelsior, while Harte of Narbonne made their touchdown and conversion, ending the game with a 7-6 score.

In their second game, the Cees met defeat to the tune of 26-0. One touchdown was made by Whittier in the second quarter and three more were made in the last half. Two of the conversions were completed.

The Cees gave Orange a trouncing of 26-0. Watsumi scored one touchdown, with Dressler and Gillette also scoring several.

The Pilots won from Covina by a score of 6-0, which was made through a pass from Dressler to Padelford, who raced over the line for a touchdown.

The Midgets defeated El Monte, 13-7, in their sole league encounter. They first scored by a pass to an El Monte end, and they scored again right after the kick-off. Later, Garfield scored 7 points for Excelsior.

Playing their first game under the arc lights, the Midgets were scalped by the Fullerton Indians. The Indians scored and converted, while the Pilots made but one touchdown from the one-foot mark. The result was a 7-6 score.

Prefacing one of the most successful of Excelsior's basketball seasons, the Pilot varsity, under Coach Langdon, participated in a large number of practice tilts, with varying results, mostly promising.

Out of seven contests, the Langdonmen came out on top in five, losing the other two by rather tight scores. Opponents in these various tiffs were Huntington Beach, Anaheim, Newport, Orange, and Downey. During this early practice period, the hoopsters journeyed to Huntington Beach for the annual basketball tournament there, and managed to reach the semi-finals, before being eliminated by Orange's 15-11 win. At this tourney, Pilotman Don Henderson won all-tournament honors for his stellar work at guard position.

In the opening League encounter, history repeated itself and the Jordan Panthers bowed before the Pilots' 34-33 score. As the score indicates, the Panthers proved a hard nut to crack, and the result was one of the toughest and finest games of the season. The Pilots, following the procedure they showed later in the season, took the lead at the start, with the towering White twins and Cecil Lewis scoring frequently and spectacularly in the first half, during which they accumulated 19 points. The last quarter was nip and tuck, with one side scoring and then the other, until finally Reed sank the last basket from the middle court, to end the game and place Excelsior in the winning column of the league.

The next encounter, that with Burbank, was a tighter game, the score being held down to 17-11, with the Pilots again on the sunny end. True to form, the boys took the lead at the start, only to surrender to the hard-fighting Bulldogs, who maintained their lead until the fourth quarter's final minutes, when the Pilots rallied and snatched the game out of the fire. Reed and Lewis were high point men in this battle, with Ray Rogers and Doug Hibberd in particularly good form.

fore successful Pilots met their Waterloo at the hands of the Pasadena Junior College five, and dropped back into third berth in the league standings. The Whites found themselves so closely guarded by the well-drilled Bulldogs that they were unable to contribute their usual quota of digits. Excelsior was behind from the beginning this time, and at the end of the feud a 35-26 score was chalked up to the credit of the Pasadenans, who played like the champions they later proved to be.

Revenge for the football defeat of October 30 added zest to the next game, that with the El Monte Lions, and as a result of the 36-23 score the Langdonites edged into second place in the league. The contest was well-fought and hard, but with the twins reigning over all, and with smooth team work, we were able to meander down the court to build up a good score, which was enlarged by an unusually great number of free shot digits.

Leaving the Monrovia Wildcats undisputed occupants of the cellar in the league standings, the Pilot lads ambled to a 26-12 victory in the Monrovia gym. With the White twins' usual lanky out-reach, 18 of the 26 points were marked up to their combined efforts, with Brother Bill as high-point man. Most of the Wildcats' shots were wild, thanks to the clever guarding of Reed and Weekley. Calvin Barnes, who was boosted from the Bees, showed promise by his scoring of two set up shots which garnered four points.

Determined to hold their position in the league standings, the Pilots stepped over the Monrovia

Oilers and ended up the season second only to Pasadena. Piling up a whaling big score in the first half of the game, the Pilots settled back and allowed the visitors to gather some points in the ensuing periods, and thus the final result was a 38-22 score.

This year's season was one of the most colorful in Excelsior basketball thistory, and many stellar performers passed in review.

Though ineligible before the season terminated, Don Henderson established for himself an enviable reputation for his work as guard, with Cecil Lewis earning no small praise for his work in the forward position. A show in themselves, Bob and Bill White were powerful factors in the Langdon machine, and Excelsior supporters are rejoicing that these lads have another year of competition, and are already looking forward to a bright season in 1938, with several lettermen scheduled to return.

B BASKETBALL

The Pilots were defeated in the first game of the season by the Panthers at a score of 14-34. Jordan was able to outplay the boys often with the tit-for-tat policy used in the first half.

Meeting the Burbankians on our court, the Bees lost by a score of 21-14. Twelve points were run up by Langdon's team in the first half. They failed, however, to break through the Bulldogs' defense in the last half.

Finding themselves the losers for the third time this season, the middle-weights were again taken, this time by the Pasadenans. Phil Harrington scored all of the 20 points in the 30-20 defeat.

Adding up digits from every corner of the court, the El Monte Lions gave the Bees their fourth straight trimming. The Bees often fell behind in their fine display, making a final score of 27-9.

The middle-weights' f i f t h successive game was lost in their bout with Monrovia, at a count of 32-13.

Five times did the Bees eat humble pie, and also their sixth, but not without a fight. With the Pilots stubbornly pushed to one side by the Oilers, the game ended 29-11.

C & D BASKETBALL

In their first practice game, the Cees battled their way to a 20-19 victory over Huntington Beach. During the second practice game, they made four of their 16 points in but one minute, with Anaheim scoring five later. Continuing their winning streak, they defeated Jordan in their first league encounter, at 14-3. They lost, however, to Burbank, at a chalk of 15-11, and by a margain of one point they also lost to Brea at 15-16. They did manage to trim the Pilot Bees by a 11-9 count, however, on winding up their season.

The Pilot Dees, on playing their first game of the season with Huntington Beach, were felled at a score of 14-6. They did emerge victorious in their other two games, however, which they played with the Anaheim Colonists and the Downey Maroons, the scores being 21-7 and 22-18, respectively.

VARSITY TRACK

Carrying off the laurels in all but three events, the Pilot track men added up 66 points to Monrovia's 38. Hasha, with the time of 10.9 seconds, took first in the 100 and 440, while Gillispie snatched off first place in the 220. In the field events, Bob White hurtled over the bar for 5 feet 4¾ inches and a first in the high jump. Itawa and Martin were firsts in the broad jump and shot put, respectively. The 880 relay was won by our squad, which consisted of McCloud, Gillispie, Hasha, and Castle.

With victory hinging on the outcome of the mile run, the Pilots again emerged as victors with the Burbank Bulldogs as losers. With Lewis, Castle and Hodges pushing themselves over the bar for first, second, and third places in the pole vault, the meet was in the Pilots' palm. As the score was too much in favor of the Jensenmen, the relay was forfeited. The final score was Excelsior 58, Burbank, 46.

Lapping up the spoils of victory, the Pilot track team again came home with the third win of the season. Pilots alone placed first in the field events and made startling showings in second and third places. The track team went down for first, in 1 minute, 36.8 seconds. All three 440 places were taken by Excelsior men, Hasha, first; Brown, second; and Brosi, third being the order of victory. The final score was $78\frac{1}{2}$ for Excelsior to Pasadena's $25\frac{1}{2}$ points.

Tasting the bitterness of defeat, the Pilots lost the next meet to the snappy Montebello Oilers. Nevertheless three long-standing Excelsior records were broken. Bob White stretched himself over the stick for 6 feet ¼ inch, while Willie Champlin sped around the track in the 880 in 2 minutes, 8.3 seconds. Mapp, in the broad jump, took first for a fine leap of 21 feet, 3 inches.

Of much importance were the practice meets, and in each, the boys showed their excellent ability. Seven out of eleven first places were taken from the Covina Tracksters with a score of 61-36.

The relay team, at the Brea-Olinda relays, scooped in one first and two third places. In the eight-man mile relay, the team which was composed of Hasha, McCloud, Castle, Gillette, Stromstad, Phillips, Murphy, and Gillispie, took third. The 1360 srint, run by Cross, Hiraoka, Champlin, and Sigler, was more successful, and took first, with the time of 3 minutes, 35 seconds. On the same meet, Willie Champlin broke, unofficially, the school record for the 880

Battling against teams from every nook of Southern California, Hasha, Sigler, Buchanan, Gillispie and White upheld Excelsior's honors at Carpenteria.

With a 58-37 score, the middleweight team lost their first meet to Monrovia. However, the 660 victory was hooked in all three places, with Dunham, first and followed by Vincenita and Quigley. Stewart Goods stepped over the low hurdles for a first.

Pulling in only three places, the Bees again suffered defeat at the Burbank Bulldogs' flying feet. The winners were Douglas at the high jump; Asawa in the shot put; and Harrington in the high hurdles.

The meet against Covina was won by a narrow margin of 32 to 30. The outcome of the relay relied on their winning the contest from Burbank, and Gillette, Murakami, Porter, and Dressler sped to victory and ended the meet with a 41-36 victory.

The Pasadena victory was 72-3 in the Cees' favor and it was at this meet that Gene Padelford broke the school record in the pole vault by one inch. Russell, Porter and Elliott made a clean sweep of the low hurdles while Gillette, Itaya and Murakami did the same in the 50-yd. dash. Vicentia and Young were first and second in the 668, while White, Padelford and Roberts tied for first in the high jump.

With nine returning lettermen, the varsity got off on a rather poor start this season. During the first few weeks the varsity lost several practice games, but as the season progressed, the team whipped itself into a much better looking ball club.

On April 8, the Pilots started a winning streak in which, as the Annual goes to press, they had lost but one game. In the first league game, that with Jordan, the Pilots were on the short end of a 6-3 score up to the 6th inning, when Joe Reed knocked the first home run of the season, with the bases filled. The final score was 11-6.

In the second league game with Burbank, the Pilots won 6-4. Garcia pitched a very good game, and a home run was made by Bob Fierro, our centerfielder.

The following week, the varsity met and defeated Pasadena by a score of 9-3, with Cal Barnes pitching a very good game. In the second inning, Barnes was given a four run lead, and also knocked the only home run of the game. As the Annual goes to press, the three main league encounters are yet to be played. They are to be with El Monte, Montebello, and Monrovia. The team also has yet to make their annual trip to Avalon High at Catalina Island.

Excelsior played a number of practice games, among the best being that with Long Beach Poly High. They were defeated 4-3, a close but exciting game. Barnes pitched a very good game, allowing only three hits in five innings.

Other games have been with Anaheim, 4-6, Anaheim, 4-5, Huntington Park, 4-9, Downey 12-4, Huntington Park, 3-9, Anaheim, 6-3, Huntington Park, 8-0, Valencia, 7-13, and Downey, 10-4.

JR. VARSITY BASEBALL

This year, in answer to Coach Charles Kendle's call, close to fifty men turned out. Owing to the limited number of baseball uniforms, the squad had to be cut down to eighteen men, fifteen of them freshman and sophomores.

This year the junior varsity has a stiffer schedule than it had last year. As the Annual goes to press, they have played only four games, winning two and losing two. The junior varsity schedule is as follows: Fullerton, Compton, El Monte, Montebello, Whittier, Downey and Valencia. The above games are all home-to-home games.

One of the outstanding players is pitcher Hall Remlin, who will be useful to the varsity next year.

Manuel Roman, third baseman and a good hitter, will also give some varsity infield players stiff competition.

Tennis season swung into action as twenty players reported to Coach Goodheart to begin the season's practice. Returning lettermen were Leo Keeter, Robert U. White, Lloyd Finch, Robert Oliver and LaVerne Mummah. Nine, instead of eight, men composed this year's Pilot team.

Three fine double teams of the following combinations were produced: Keeter and Oliver, White and Oliver, and Keeter and white. Both Bob White and Robert Oliver will undoubtedly be determined rivals to win the coveted school championship. Keeter will give them a run for the money as his playing of late has improved considerably. Several freshmen turned out and, although not making much of a showing this year, will prove a very valuable addition to next year's team.

The double team of Robert Oliver and Leo Keeter crushed the two players from Anaheim for a 6-2, 6-4 score, but the meet was lost 6-2. Two sets of singles and one of doubles were won from the Huntington Park Sentinels. Robert Gravage, with a 6-3, 10-8, 6-3, lost his match, while LaVerne Mummah won with a 6-1. Oliver and Keeter were also winners of their doubles.

During the Easter vacation, Oliver and Keeter smashed their way into the finals during the eighth annual midwinter tournament at Long Beach, and played for the Championship at the Southern California C. I. F. C meet at Harvard school.

The tennis squad won their first victory of the season over Jordan, as they did last year, on the Panthers' court. Tyner, Finch, Maddox, and Gravage were a few who competed. The Burbank meet was close with the Bulldogs winning with a 5-4 score on Excelsior's courts. White, Gravage, Leigh, Finch, Maddox, and Keeter were single competitors, while the doubles were composed of Bob Oliver-Bob White and Jim Tyner-Lloyd Martin.

A 5-4 upset again faced the net men when they played Pasadena here.

As the Annual goes to press, no further combats have been reported.

GIRLS' SPORTS

COACHES

In all their sport activities, the girls' coaches worked ceaselessly. Their untiring efforts brought forth admiration of not only the girls but also that of the rest of the student body.

Miss Payne, Miss Dexter, Miss Frank and Mrs. Heffernan filled each individual position well. It was through their planning and supervision that the banquets and play days were successfully enjoyed by all attending.

They stand as a symbol of fairness and friendship to all, and we are proud to have them as Excelsior's coches.

INDIVIDUAL LETTER WINNERS

This year Girls' Sports attained a new height over their former successes with the awarding of athletic sweaters for perfection in sport events. Sweaters are awarded only to those girls receiving chenille letters, which are attained by having obtained the required number of points. They are preceeded by a small letter and four stars.

Inter-class competition and participation in sports events are required for the needed number of points to gain a sweater.

The basketball turn-out was exceptionally good this year. All classes came out in large numbers, thus making the competition for school teams quite stiff. After much hard fighting by all participating, the senior class won the shields. Those on the winning team were: Mary Zualet, Pauline Steiner, Rena Mulder, Marilyn Crider, Dorothy deBuxton, and Maxine Nelson.

At the playday which was held at Montebello, Excelsior's first and second teams came out victorious by overwhelming scores.

Excelsior's girls are proud of their coaches and the fact that their basketball teams always succeed in defeating the other schools.

Everyone seems to show up for hockey, thus making competition fierce. The season was unusually successful with the sophomores again taking the lead in game winnings.

It was very difficult to choose the school teams because of the outstanding ability of so many of the girls. The sophomore girls' team displayed such unity in teamwork and playing that many of them were equal to the upperclassmen.

Places on the sophomore team were filled by such able players as: Dorothy Hisey, Marion Wall, Bernice Towns, Mary Ransom, Lilly Lee, Billie Ruth Plender, Catherine Nakashima, Ruth Ransom, Jessie Hartwood, and Keta Haroda.

Quite contrary to expectations, the sophomores turned the tables and won the championship between classes, rather than the seniors. The inter-class matches were fought with the usual spirit, and the senior class, which came out ahead, really deserved the shields.

The girls all enjoy this new type of gym, so it will probably become larger and more advanced in the coming years.

VOLLEYBALL

Under the joint supervision of coach Mrs. Heffernan and manager Albert Heaman, the volleyball turnout was larger than it has ever been in the past.

Because there are only six girls allowed on a team, it makes playing more difficult. The girls have enthusiastically done their parts in maintaining sportsmanship in this athletic activity. Every one has worked hard and deserves credit for participation.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Behind the scenes of every annual are found the people whose cooperation and contributions are of the greatest value; to them, we express our sincerest thanks:

Miss Bernice Rankin, for arranging the picture schedule.

Mr. Richard Gahr, for his splendid group pictures.

Mr. J. Edmund Watson, not only for his excellent individual pictures, but for the scenic views of the school and for the flashlight pictures of the plays.

Mr. Fred Smith, of the Los Angeles Engraving Company, for his work on the engraving end of the book.

Mr. R. L. McGrath, of Weber-McCrea Bindery, for his assistance with the covers.

Mr. Joe Williams and Mr. Bob Tarlton of the Bellflower Herald-Enterprise for aid in printing and composition.
